Casa CUEVAS

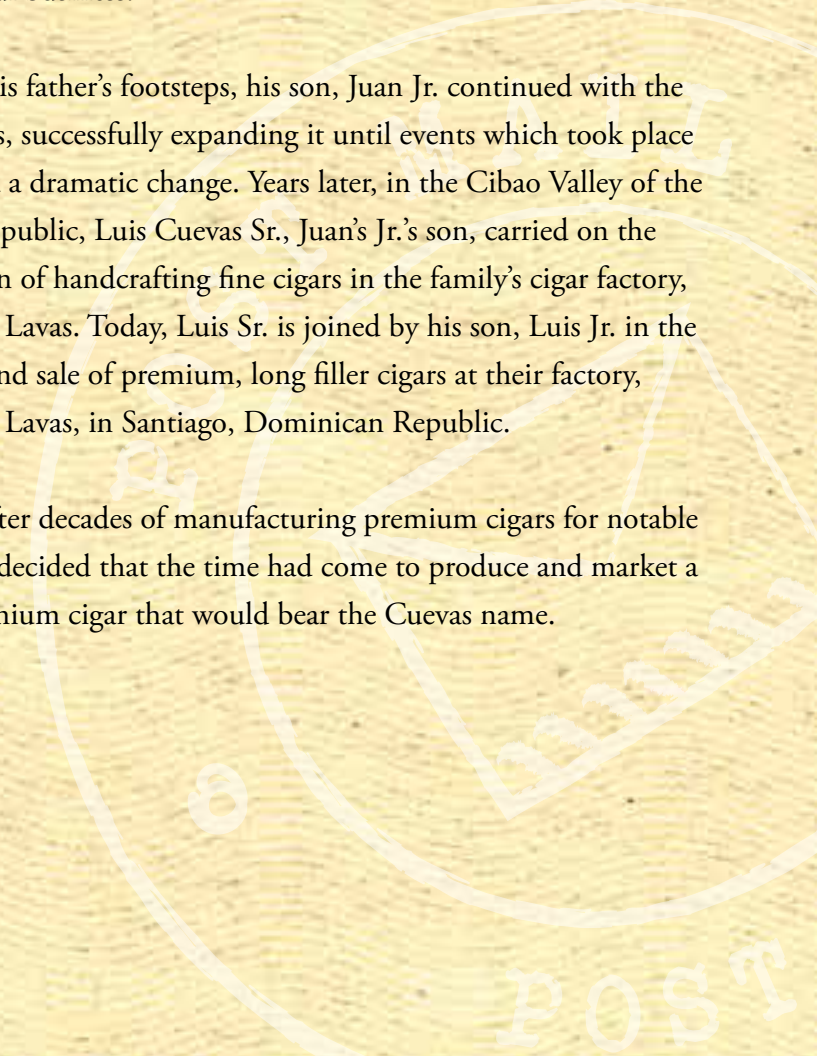

• PREMIUM CIGARS •

In the 19th century, Juan Cuevas, Spanish immigrant from Santander, began what was to be a family business which now spans five generations. Like others fortunate enough to live and work in the Pinar del Rio province of Cuba, Juan commenced cultivating tobacco, turning it into a successful business.

Following in his father's footsteps, his son, Juan Jr. continued with the family business, successfully expanding it until events which took place in 1959 forced a dramatic change. Years later, in the Cibao Valley of the Dominican Republic, Luis Cuevas Sr., Juan's Jr.'s son, carried on the family tradition of handcrafting fine cigars in the family's cigar factory, Tabacalera Las Lavas. Today, Luis Sr. is joined by his son, Luis Jr. in the manufacture and sale of premium, long filler cigars at their factory, Tabacalera Las Lavas, in Santiago, Dominican Republic.

So it is that, after decades of manufacturing premium cigars for notable brands, it was decided that the time had come to produce and market a high-end, premium cigar that would bear the Cuevas name.

CASA CUEVAS PRENSADO

MADURO

HABANO

Casa Cuevas Prensado
Blended in the same manner as the Casa Cuevas Core line of Maduros and Habanos, the Prensado really accentuates the flavor of the wrapper and binder since less filler is used in order to press the cigar into its rectangular shape. Additionally, Master Blender Luis Cuevas, Sr. believes in making sure that box-pressed cigars are pressed for enough time to maintain their shape. Which means these cigars take longer to roll out to market than their traditionally shaped counterparts.

CASA CUEVAS RESERVA

The Cuevas Reserva Master Blender Luis Cuevas Sr. introduced the Cuevas Reserva brand (under the name Cuevas Habanos) in the early 2000’s. Years later, in 2016, his son Luis Cuevas Jr. convinced his father to create their own line of cigars, Casa Cuevas Cigars. The father and son team decided it was now time for the full-scale distribution of the Cuevas Reserva brand.

CASA CUEVAS LIMITED EDITION FLACO

LIMITED EDITION FLACO

MADURO

HABANO

Originally released in December 2018, the brand was well received by the public before the Casa Cuevas Cigars’ distribution center in Miami was burglarized two months later. The entire Casa Cuevas inventory including all the individually numbered Flaco boxes were stolen. Demand has brought the Flaco back.

“The burglary was a low point for he Cuevas family, and so they decided to move forward with other projects, but there was a constant stream of communication from retailers and consumers to bring back the Flaco brand,” Going forward the plan is to release a limited amount of the Casa Cuevas Limited Edition Flacos every four years in numbered boxes.
